Dear Colleagues,

The Field Center for Children’s Policy, Practice & Research at the University of Pennsylvania is pleased to present our 2011 conference, One Child, Many Hands: A Multidisciplinary Conference on Child Welfare. This year’s theme is “Protecting Children—Protecting our Future.”

We are delighted to open the conference with none other than Bill Cosby. An educator, advocate, and philanthropist, Dr. William H. Cosby, Jr. will deliver this year’s Opening Keynote Address. Dr. Cosby’s work, both in the entertainment field and in the larger community, is all about children. His presentation promises to be one you mustn’t miss.

This year’s Plenary Panels each address a timely topic and feature the nation’s leading experts. Plenary Panels include:

- Breaking Down the Walls: Confidentiality Issues in Cross-System Decision Making
- I Still Want Family: Perspectives of Establishing Pathways to Permanence for Older Youth
- Child Maltreatment Over the Last Decade: Is it Really Declining?

A total of 36 different workshops, with scheduled presenters from Oregon to Australia, will offer sessions on critical practice, policy, and research initiatives, integrating work across all disciplines. With so many outstanding presentations, it will be difficult to choose.

Addressing the conference during Thursday’s Networking Luncheon are the Honorable Kevin Dougherty, Administrative Judge of Philadelphia Family Court, and Anne Marie Ambrose, Commissioner of the Philadelphia Department of Human Services. Truly embracing the concept of collaboration to support systemic reform, Judge Dougherty and Ms. Ambrose will share their groundbreaking efforts to partner for the protection of children.

Closing our conference and delivering our Closing Keynote Address is Dr. David Finkelhor, Director of the Crimes Against Children Research Center and Co-Director of the Family Research Laboratory, University of New Hampshire. Dr. Finkelhor’s body of work over the course of his notable career provides a foundation for all that we do. A prolific writer and recipient of numerous awards, Dr. Finkelhor has been called the most prominent sociologist in the field of child sexual abuse.

For an added treat, join your colleagues at the Phillies game. One Child, Many Hands has been fortunate to secure a block of tickets exclusively for conference-goers. Get on the bus for an evening of fun with Philadelphia’s championship team!

We look forward to your joining us as we protect our future by protecting our children.

Sincerely,

Debra Schilling Wolfe
Executive Director, Field Center for Children’s Policy, Practice & Research

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

OPENING KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Bill Cosby

William H. Cosby, Jr. was born to William and Anna Cosby on July 12, Germantown Hospital, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Calling himself a “late bloomer,” he did not realize the value of a formal education until after the first four days of boot camp in the U.S. Navy. Cosby said, “Four years later in May, when I got out of the Navy, I hit the ground running from Norfolk, VA and immediately enrolled at Temple University in Philadelphia.”

Bill Cosby is well known for his commitment to education. He emphatically believes that the best assurance for a satisfying and rewarding life begins with knowledge. Cosby himself went back to college, long after he had achieved much of his success to obtain a masters degree as well as an Ed.D. He has, in fact, applied this further education in his professional life.

One of America’s most beloved comedians of all time, Bill Cosby has captivated generations of fans with his comedy routines, iconic albums and best selling books such as Fatherhood. His comedy transcends age, gender, and cultural barriers.

Cosby broke television’s racial barrier with a role in I Spy, becoming the first African American to costar on a television series and win three consecutive Emmys for “Outstanding Lead Actor” in the dramatic series. The veteran comic created and produced the Emmy-winning cartoon Fat Albert and the Cosby Kids, which began airing in the 1970s and was made into a film in 2004. The show, based on Cosby’s childhood in Philadelphia, was designed to educate and entertain. His illustrious list of accomplishments includes roles on the children’s educational show Electric Company, and creating and producing the Emmy award winning Little Bill, which is based on his bestselling book series.

Perhaps Cosby’s greatest contribution to American entertainment and culture is The Cosby Show, about a close-knit, upper class black family. Cosby said his intent was to portray an American family. Time magazine called the show “an encouraging sign of maturity in matters of race.” The Cosby Show dominated the No. One spot for years, earning nearly unanimous critical praise. Life magazine described the program as “a gentle, whimsical, warmhearted” show whose “delicious ordinariness of its pleasures and tribulations has given millions a fresh, laughter-splashed perspective on their own domestic lives.”

Cosby has never stopped realizing the importance of challenging himself. “People always say ‘You don’t need money, why are you still working?’ My answer is that it isn’t about money. That’s academic. It’s about accepting the challenges of one’s own ideas, clarifying the unanswered questions and pursuing the excitement of discovery.”

For his philanthropic efforts and positive influence as a performer and author, Cosby was honored with a 1998 Kennedy Center Honors Award. In 2002, he received the Presidential Medal of Freedom, America’s highest civilian honor, was the 2009 recipient of the Mark Twain Prize for American Humor and the Marian Anderson Award in 2010.

CLOSING KEYNOTE SPEAKER

David Finkelhor, PhD

David Finkelhor is Director of Crimes against Children Research Center, Co-Director of the Family Research Laboratory, Professor of Sociology, and University Professor, at the University of New Hampshire. He has been studying the problems of child victimization, child maltreatment and family violence since 1977.

Finkelhor is well known for his conceptual and empirical work on the problem of child sexual abuse, reflected in publications such as Sourcebook on Child Sexual Abuse (Sage, 1986) and Nursery Crimes (Sage, 1988). He has also written about child homicide, missing and abducted children, children exposed to domestic and peer violence and other forms of family violence. In his recent work, for example, his book, Child Victimization (Oxford University Press, 2008), he has tried to unify and integrate knowledge about all the diverse forms of child victimization in a field he has termed Developmental Victimology. This book received the Daniel Schneider Child Welfare Book of the Year award in 2009. All together, he is editor and author of 12 books and over 200 journal articles and book chapters. He has received grants from the National Institute of Mental Health, the National Center on Child Abuse and Neglect, and the US Department of Justice, and a variety of other sources.

In 1994, Finkelhor was given the Distinguished Child Abuse Professional Award by the American Professional Society on the Abuse of Children, in 2004 he was given the Significant Achievement Award from the Association for the Treatment of Sexual Abusers, in 2005 he and his colleagues received the Child Maltreatment Article of the Year award, and in 2007 he was elected as a Fellow of the American Society of Criminology.
Anne Marie Ambrose

Anne Marie Ambrose is the Commissioner of the Philadelphia Department of Human Services. As Commissioner, Ambrose works in partnership with the state, service providers, the School District and other City agencies and communities across the city to ensure the safety and well being of the children of Philadelphia.

Commissioner Ambrose’s career in public service spans more than 20 years. Most recently she served as the Director of Child Welfare and Juvenile Justice Services at the Department of Public Welfare where she was responsible for the operation of four regional offices that provide licensing, child abuse investigations and technical assistance for public and private agencies as well as seven state-run facilities for delinquent youth including one for girls.

Prior to her appointment as Director of Child Welfare and Juvenile Justice Services, Ms. Ambrose served as DHS Deputy Commissioner for Juvenile Justice Services from 2001 to 2005. During her tenure, Ms. Ambrose developed and led initiatives to reform and improve the juvenile justice system in Philadelphia. Ms. Ambrose began her career as an advocate for youth in the juvenile justice system in Philadelphia where she spent 13 years as an attorney for the Defender Association.

She is a member of the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention’s Girl’s Study Group, former Vice President of the Council of Juvenile Correctional Administrators and a gubernatorial appointee to the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Committee of the Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency. In 2007, Ms. Ambrose provided critical testimony before the United States House and Senate in support of the reauthorization of the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act. Ms. Ambrose holds a J.D. from the Emory University School of Law, Atlanta, Georgia.

The Honorable Kevin Dougherty

Judge Kevin M. Dougherty is the Administrative Judge of the Philadelphia Family Court. He was appointed by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania on December 31, 2005. In his capacity, he oversees both the Juvenile Branch and the Domestic Relations Branch of Family Court. The Juvenile Branch includes delinquency and dependency, Juvenile Probation, and the Youth Study Center. The Domestic Relations Branch includes Custody, Support, Divorce and Protection from Abuse/Domestic Violence. Judge Dougherty has presided in Family Court since being appointed in 2001. He served as Supervising Judge of Philadelphia Family Court, Juvenile Division from 2003 to 2005. Prior to being elected Judge, he served as an Assistant District Attorney in Philadelphia County, as Partner of his own law firm, and as a Special Master to the Philadelphia Family Court Truancy Program.

Judge Dougherty was appointed by Governor Edward G. Rendell of Pennsylvania to the Juvenile Court Judges Commission in 2003 and currently serves as Vice Chair of the Commission. He was appointed by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania to the Domestic Relations Procedural Rules Committee in 2003. In 2007 the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania appointed Judge Dougherty to the PA Children Roundtable Philadelphia Committee, Bench Book Committee on Dependency and the Child and Family Service Review Committee. The Judge was appointed by Mayor John F. Street as a member of the Children’s Commission of Distinguished Leaders in Philadelphia, member and Co-Chair of the Blue Ribbon Commission on Children Behavioral Health, and the Philadelphia Education Advisory Task Force. Most recently Judge Dougherty was appointed by Mayor Michael Nutter to the College & Career Success Committee, City Wide Safety Cabinet-School Safety Advisory Committee and the Criminal Justice Advisory Board.

SPECIAL CONFERENCE EVENT

Join Your Colleagues at the Phillies Game!

See the Philadelphia Phillies play the Chicago Cubs the evening of Thursday June 9th at beautiful Citizens Bank Park.

Continuing Education Units are available in the following disciplines. If you would like to receive CEUs, please indicate the appropriate discipline on the registration form. Only one certificate will be processed per participant.

Social Workers: Participants who attend the entire conference are eligible to receive 19 Social Work Continuing Education Units (CEU’s) through the University of Pennsylvania School of Social Policy & Practice. Social Workers who attend both Plenary Panel II and Workshop D3 (Ethics and Social Justice) earn 3 Ethics CEUs. The Penn School of Social Policy & Practice is a pre-approved provider of continuing education credits for Pennsylvania licensed Social Workers. Social Workers from states other than Pennsylvania should contact their licensing board to determine whether CEU’s granted by the Penn School of Social Policy & Practice are accepted for licensure renewal. A $25 processing fee must be included at the time of registration.

Attorneys: Some of these sessions have been approved for CLE credit. Pennsylvania attorneys can complete their annual CLE requirement with full participation in the One Child, Many Hands conference, earning a maximum of 13.5 CLE credits. To learn about the credit for any program, please see www.law.upenn.edu/cle. The fee is $20 per approved session (except Plenary I, Plenary II and Thursday's Networking Luncheon Presentation, which are $15 each) or $100 for the full conference. Each session marked by a [ ] has been approved for 1.5 hours of substantive law credit for Pennsylvania lawyers (except Plenary I, Plenary III and Thursday's Networking Luncheon Presentation, which are approved for 1 hour each), and each session marked by a [ ] has been approved for 1.5 hours of ethics law credit for Pennsylvania lawyers. Registration and payment for CLE credit cannot be made in advance but is payable at the conference via check to the Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania.

WELCOME TO PHILADELPHIA,
home of great sports, great food, and great culture! We hope that during your stay, you will explore our exciting, vibrant city. In addition to being a vital part of our nation’s history, Philadelphia also features a wealth of museums and galleries, restaurants from the world’s top chefs, championship sports teams, and a lively cultural scene.

The City of Brotherly Love is also the birthplace of America. Philadelphia’s Old City District is home to landmarks such as the Liberty Bell (Market Street between 5th and 6th Streets), the Betsy Ross House (Arch Street between 2nd and 3rd), and Independence Hall (Chestnut Street between 5th and 6th). The National Constitution Center on Independence Mall is a recent addition to the city, and features interactive and multimedia exhibits honoring and explaining the U.S. Constitution. For a guided tour, the Constitutional Walking Tour of Philadelphia explores the city with you and features more than 20 historic sites.

The image of Rocky running up the steps of the Philadelphia Museum of Art is world-famous, but cannot compare to the Museum’s reputation as one of the great art institutions of the world. The Franklin (20th Street and the Ben Franklin Parkway) is Philadelphia’s most-visited museum, and features interactive exhibits and theater-based programming providing a fun and educational look at science and technology.

For a taste of the local cuisine, visit Pat’s or Geno’s cheesesteaks at 12th and Passyunk Streets in South Philadelphia’s Italian Market, and participate in the debate for Philadelphia’s King of Steaks. Philadelphia natives also recommend Jim’s Steaks at 4th and South Streets.

In addition to cheesesteaks and soft pretzels, Philadelphia is home to seven restaurants by famed “Iron Chef” Jose Garces. His restaurant, Distritio, is just blocks from the conference site. You can find many of Center City’s fine dining establishments on Rittenhouse Row (Walnut Street from Broad to 21st). You may also want to visit Philadelphia’s Chinatown, which extends from Arch Street to Vine, between 8th and 11th Streets. Be sure to stop in one of the area’s many tea houses, bakeries, and restaurants featuring Chinese, Japanese, Vietnamese, Malaysian, and Thai cuisines.

Another popular hometown attraction is the Reading Terminal Market (12th and Arch Streets). An indoor market founded in 1892 on the site of William Penn’s original Philadelphia market, the Reading Terminal Market features fresh meats, poultry, produce and seafood, Amish specialties, and unique hand-made pottery, jewelry and crafts from around the world, plus a little bit of everything else. The Market is also one of the top destinations for a quick and excellent lunch in Center City Philadelphia.

For information on these exhibits and other attractions in the Philadelphia area, visit the Independence Visitor Center at www.independencevisitorcenter.com, in person at 6th and Market Streets, or by calling 800-537-7676. The Center is open daily from 8:30 am to 7:00 pm.
CONFERECE INFORMATION

Welcome to the University of Pennsylvania, established by Benjamin Franklin in 1751. Penn is recognized as America’s first university and is home to the nation’s first medical school. Today Penn continues to be a leader in higher education and serves as a model for research colleges and universities throughout the world. Its 269-acre urban campus is located in the Philadelphia neighborhood known as University City, on the west side of the Schuylkill River just across from Center City. Please take the time to stroll through our beautiful campus and enjoy all that Penn has to offer.
