Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the Field Center for Children’s Policy, Practice & Research’s multidisciplinary team, I am pleased to present our 2013 conference, One Child, Many Hands: A Multidisciplinary Conference on Child Welfare, being held for the first time at the University of Pennsylvania Perelman School of Medicine’s beautiful Smilow Center for Translational Research. Located on Penn’s medical campus and adjacent to the Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia, we can think of no better setting to gather for three days of learning and collaboration.

We look forward to you joining us as the Field Center celebrates its 10th anniversary, offering an outstanding program with not-to-be-missed speakers and presenters.

This year’s theme is Child Welfare in the Age of Reform: Creating a New Normal, featuring four important keynote addresses. Opening the conference is acclaimed author and screenwriter Antwone Fisher, whose poignant autobiographical story was portrayed in a film starring Denzel Washington.

We are honored to present a Luncheon Keynote Address by Representative Louise Williams Bishop, legislator, radio personality, minister, and sexual abuse victim. Dorothy Roberts will deliver the Field Center 10th Anniversary Keynote on Child Welfare and Social Justice: Beyond the New Normal. Closing the conference will be Lisa Nutter, First Lady of Philadelphia and President of Philadelphia Academies.

Our diverse Plenary Panels each address a critical and controversial topic, and all promise to be engaging sessions. From The Role, Responsibility, and Ethics of the Media in Reporting of Child Abuse to the timely Jerry Sandusky as an Agent of Social Change: Pennsylvania’s Efforts at Reform – A View From the Inside, One Child, Many Hands is the only place where you will hear from those who are front and center in child welfare reform.

With 36 different workshops, carefully selected to represent the very best work in the field, this year’s conference offers great opportunities for learning, networking, and being at the forefront of new and emerging work.

Our popular networking luncheons are back! And we are delighted to offer the opportunity for you to relax with your colleagues and enjoy a very special chef’s tasting dinner at Iron Chef Jose Garces’ signature restaurant, Distrito, one of the many great dining opportunities Philadelphia has to offer.

As we move into our second decade, the Field Center welcomes you to help create a “new normal.”

Sincerely,

Debra Schilling Wolfe

OPENING KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Antwone Fisher

Antwone Fisher is an award-winning film and literary writer. Born in an Ohio prison to a teenage mother, Antwone became a ward of the state and was placed in foster care. He spent two years in a loving foster home, but was subsequently moved and suffered twelve years of abuse at the hands of his new foster family.

Unable to locate a new placement for him, at age 14, Antwone was sent to a reform school in western Pennsylvania where he remained until he graduated high school at 17. Emancipated from foster care, he found himself in the world alone and homeless, living on the streets of Cleveland.

Antwone set on a course of healing when he joined the U.S. Navy where he served his country for eleven years. After his honorable discharge from the military, Antwone became a Federal Correctional Officer with the Federal Bureau of Prisons and, after three years of service, he took a job at Sony Pictures Entertainment working as a Security Officer. It was at Sony Pictures that Antwone was referred to a free screenwriting course.

Antwone has worked in Hollywood for 20 years as a writer and producer, with an impressive fourteen writing projects or assignments with major studios. Among those projects is the feature classic, Antwone Fisher, directed by and starring Oscar-winning actor Denzel Washington, written by Antwone and based on his own life. The film garnered numerous nominations and awards. Antwone received the renowned Humanitas Prize, the Screenwriter of the Year Award from the National Association of Theater Owners, and was listed in Variety’s “Fifty People to Watch.”

Antwone’s first book, Finding Fish: a Memoir, about his inspiring story became a New York Times best seller. His collection of poetry, Who Will Cry For The Little Boy?, a national best seller, creatively disclosed the road from his tumultuous childhood to the man he is today. Antwone’s poetry is featured in Nikki Giovanni’s book for children, Hip Hop Speaks to Children. His third book, A Boy Should Know How To Tie A Tie And Other Lessons For Succeeding In Life, won the award for Outstanding Literary Work - Instructional from the 2011 NAACP Awards and is in its third printing.

Antwone continues as a prolific writer with his stage project, Antwone Fisher: A Play. His most recent screenwriting project is Training Day 2.

Antwone Fisher made his film directing debut with the award-winning short film, My Summer Friend, and produced, wrote, and directed the 2011 documentary, This Life of Mine. Antwone teaches in the UCLA Extension Writers Program, the country’s largest continuing education writing program.

About how far he has come, Antwone stated, “I think back on a childhood full of longing for belonging, and see my life now as what I have created out of my dreams. An image comes to mind of Mrs. Brown at the orphanage in Cleveland, me sitting at her side, telling her, ‘You’ll read about me someday.’ I was definitely dreaming then. With no evidence of that ever being possible, I clung to that preposterous vision and with the force of those dreams willed it and made it happen. Not because I needed to be famous, but because I needed a world that made me feel uninvited to be wrong, so I imagined myself free, I imagined myself loved, I imagined myself... as somebody.”

FIELD CENTER 10TH ANNIVERSARY KEYNOTE

Dorothy Roberts, JD

Dorothy Roberts, JD is the 14th Penn Integrates Knowledge Professor, George A. Weiss University Professor, and the inaugural Raymond Pace and Sadie Tanner Mossell Alexander Professor of Civil Rights at the University of Pennsylvania, where she holds appointments in the Law School and Departments of Africana Studies and Sociology. An internationally recognized scholar, public intellectual, and social justice advocate, she has written and lectured extensively on the interplay of gender, race, and class in legal issues and has been a leader in transforming public thinking and policy on reproductive health, child welfare, and bioethics.

Professor Roberts is the author of the award-winning books Killing the Black Body: Race, Reproduction, and the Meaning of Liberty and Shattered Bonds: The Color of Child Welfare, as well as co-editor of six books on constitutional law and gender. She has also published more than eighty articles and essays in books and scholarly journals, including the Harvard Law Review, Yale Law Journal, and Stanford Law Review. Her latest book is Fatal Invention: How Science, Politics, and Big Business Re-create Race in the Twenty-First Century. Professor Roberts has been a professor at Rutgers and Northwestern University, a visiting professor at Stanford and Fordham, and a fellow at Harvard University’s Program in Ethics and the Professions, Stanford’s Center for Comparative Studies in Race and Ethnicity, and the Fulbright Program.

Professor Roberts serves as chair of the board of directors of the Black Women’s Health Imperative, on the board of directors of the National Coalition for Child Protection Reform, and on the advisory boards of the Center for Genetics and Society and Family Defense Center. She recently received awards from the National Science Foundation, the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, and the 2010 Dorothy Ann and Clarence L. Ver Steeg Distinguished Research Fellowship.
Lisa Johnson Nutter, First Lady of Philadelphia, is President of Philadelphia Academies, Inc., a non-profit youth development organization that works in Philadelphia’s public high schools to provide career-based learning experiences that motivate young people to stay engaged in school and that create supportive networks for them in the real world. The overarching goal is to expand life and economic options for these students and set them on a positive path. Ms. Nutter previously served as Senior Director of Research and Planning at Philadelphia Academies, during which time which she oversaw and conducted research and planning activities for the organization as well as led the development of the organization’s research and advocacy capacity.

Ms. Nutter’s diverse professional background includes work in the fields of education, community organizing, human services, community development, and arts and culture. Prior to joining Philadelphia Academies, Inc., she was a senior project director at OMG Center for Collaborative Learning with an extensive background consulting with community-based and non-profit organizations. While at OMG Center, she led several long-term research and evaluation projects including the evaluation of three multi-year community revitalization initiatives – the Annie E. Casey Foundation’s Rebuilding Communities Initiative, the Annie E. Casey Foundation’s Rebuilding Communities Initiative, the and the Comprehensive Community Revitalization Project in the South Bronx and the Fannie Mae Sustained Excellence Awards Program. Ms. Nutter also conducted numerous public policy research and applied research studies in urban open space and open space maintenance, education and education reform, and employment and workforce development. These experiences with practitioners and organizations in a number of community change initiatives influenced her practice significantly, leading to her to develop practical organizational strengthening tools that are used to support organizational learning and reinforce reflection, self-assessment and planning practices among non-profit organizations working toward social change.

Ms. Nutter has a B.S. in Psychology from the Pennsylvania State University and an M.A. in City Planning from the University of Pennsylvania. In 2005, she completed a year-long fellowship in the Emerging Leaders Programme which is administered by the Centre for Leadership and Public Values at the University of Cape Town (South Africa) and Duke University.

She is actively engaged locally and nationally in issues related to social change and youth development and presently serves on the board of directors of the Women’s Community Revitalization Project, Big Picture Philadelphia. She also serves on the Advisory Council for the Pennsylvania Conference for Women.

Welcome to Philadelphia, home of great sports, great food, and great culture! We hope that during your stay, you will explore our exciting, vibrant city. In addition to being a vital part of our nation’s history, Philadelphia also features a wealth of museums and galleries, restaurants from the world’s top chefs, championship sports teams, and a lively cultural scene.

This year Philadelphia is host to the 2013 U.S. Open, golf’s toughest test. For further information and to check on ticket availability, please visit www.usopen.com.

Plan a visit to Philadelphia’s world renowned Barnes Foundation. The Barnes Foundation houses one of the largest art collections in the world. Visitor information can be found on their website at www.barnesfoundation.org.

For information on these exhibits and other attractions in the Philadelphia area, visit the Independence Visitor Center at www.independencevisitorcenter.com, in person at 6th and Market Streets, or by calling 800-537-7676. The Center is open daily from 8:30 am to 7:00 pm.

VENDOR / EXHIBITOR INFORMATION

One Child, Many Hands: A Multidisciplinary Conference on Child Welfare offers a great opportunity for exhibitors to showcase program and products to a diverse group of professionals. Daily continental breakfast and all breaks are held in the exhibition area, allowing excellent exposure for vendors.

Information for potential vendors and exhibitors can be found on the conference website at www.onechildmanyhands.org or by contacting Sarah Porter at (215) 573-9779 or onechild@sp2.upenn.edu

HOTEL ACCOMMODATIONS:

CONFERENCE LOCATION
This year’s conference is being held at the University of Pennsylvania Perelman School of Medicine’s new Smilow Center for Translational Research. The Smilow building is located at 3400 Civic Center Blvd, adjacent to the Perelman Center for Advanced Medicine and across the street from the Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia.

The conference site is accessible through the Perelman Center for Advanced Medicine (3400 Civic Center Blvd). Upon your arrival, enter through the revolving doors and ride the escalators to the 2nd floor. Registration and all conference sessions (The Smilow Center for Translational Research) will be located to your right, through the corridor. Please follow all signage.

If traveling by car, from the Schuykill Expressway, exit 346A, South Street, turning west onto South Street. Turn left onto 34th Street. The Smilow Center for Translational Research (enter at the Perelman Center for Advanced Medicine) will be on your left.

Public Transportation: The Airport train leaves every half hour and stops at 30th Street Station and at University Station, (see map), directly behind Penn Tower. The train fare is about $5 and takes 20 minutes.

If traveling within the city, Septa’s 42 bus provides direct access to the conference site.

PARKING
Parking is available at Penn Tower Garage for $20 per day. To park at Penn Tower, turn left on Convention Avenue (from Health Sciences Drive) and right into the garage.

SPECIAL NEEDS
All session locations are fully ADA compliant. For those needing assistance, please specify your needs on the registration form.

CONTINUING EDUCATION CREDIT
One Child, Many Hands: A Multidisciplinary Conference on Child Welfare has been approved to offer continuing education credit in Social Work, Marriage and Family Therapy, Professional Counseling, and Law. One certificate is available per registrant who attends the entire conference. A fee of $30 applies for processing of each Social Work, Marriage and Family Therapy, and Professional Counselor certificate. Continuing Legal Education credits cost $15 per credit hour or $145 ($70 for public interest attorneys) for the full conference. A maximum of 18 CEUs for Social Workers, Marriage and Family Therapists, and Professional Counselors and 14.5 CLE credits for Attorneys are available, including credit in Ethics. It is the attendee’s responsibility to sign in and out in order to receive continuing education credit. For your convenience, a Continuing Education table will be set up in the Conference Registration area. Please see the conference registration form for more details.
